- DDS is an indicator that measures access to household food variety.
- · It reflects the nutrient and micronutrient adequacy of the diets of household members
- For household DDS (HDDS), FANTA/FAO classified foods into 12 groups (cereals, white tubers and roots, vegetables, fruits, meat, eggs, fish and sea foods, legumes and seeds, milk and milk products, oils and fats, sweets and spices.)

- There are no established cut-off points in terms of number of food groups to indicate adequate or inadequate dietary diversity for the HDDS.
- => Recommendation: use the mean score or distribution of scores for analytical purposes and to set programme targets or goals.
- Threshold:
 - 1. Dietary Guidelines for Bangladesh, Bangladesh Institute of Research and Rehabilitation in Diabetes, Endocrine and Metabolic Disorders: <5: poor, 6-8: moderate and >9: good
 - 2. IFPRI: 6+: high = good dietary diversity ; 4.5 6: medium dietary diversity and <4.5: low dietary diversity
